Scalp Itched and Burned Intensely. Hair Dry and Thin. Kept Falling Out. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Entirely Cured.

84 Stanwood St., Dorchester, Mass.—

"For the past few years my scalp was very much affected with dandruff. It would itch and burn and cause loss of sleep. I found pimples and many sores appearing on my scalp. The itching and burning of the scalp were so intense that I scratched and thereby caused the sores to appear. My hair would be dry and thin and would keep falling out gradually, mainly coming out from the top of my head. My coat collar would always be covered with dandruff and as it scaled off it could be seen plainly in my hair."

"I tried many remedies but without success. The trouble having lasted for about five years I finally purchased a box of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The first application of Cuticura Soap and Ointment showed results. The itching stopped and the dandruff had begun to disappear. After washing my head with Cuticura Soap each night for two months and then applying the Cuticura Ointment after my hair was dried I was entirely cured." (Signed) Bernard Bresnick, May 17, 1913.

For more than a generation Cuticura Soap and Ointment have afforded the most economical treatment for affections of the scalp and scalp that torture, itch, burn, scale, and destroy sleep. Sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston." Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for scalp and skin.

AMBASSADOR PAGE RAISES A STORM

His Speech at London Under Fire in Both Houses of Congress

—Resolution Adopted in Senate Calling For Verbatim Report of His Remarks—Charged That He Indicated Readiness of United States to Abandon Monroe Doctrine

Washington, March 12.—Walter Hines Page, American ambassador to Great Britain, was made the target of inquiry today in a resolution adopted by the senate calling upon the secretary of state to investigate alleged public assertions by the ambassador relative to the Monroe doctrine and the Panama canal.

Calls for Copy of Speech.

Senator Chamberlain, aroused over reports of a speech by Ambassador Page last night in London before the Associated Chambers of Commerce, introduced the resolution of inquiry, and his request for immediate consideration resulted in its adoption without debate. The resolution called upon the secretary of state to produce a copy for the use of the senate of Ambassador Page's address, and to call upon the ambassador for evidence upon which he based the alleged statement that "it added greatly to the pleasure of the people of the United States in the building of the Panama canal to know that the British would profit most by its use."

Was Extemporaneous Speech.

Particular request is made in the resolution for a verbatim report of that portion of the ambassador's address in which he is reported to have defined the Monroe doctrine as meaning merely that "the United States would prefer that no European governments would gain more land in the new world."

After the resolution had been adopted, senators heard of despatches from London saying the ambassador's speech was delivered extemporaneously late in the evening and not reported verbatim, and quoting Mr. Page as explaining that his reference to British use of the Panama canal was in a light vein. It was taken for granted at the capital, however, that in response to the state department's request the ambassador would furnish his recollection of just what he had said, with the desired explanation.

Similar Resolution in House.

No attempt to oppose the resolution was made when Senator Chamberlain offered it, the usual custom being to pass such measures as a matter of course. Later in the day a similar resolution was introduced in the house by Representative Murray of Oklahoma, a democrat, but it did not get before the body for discussion or action. There was no official comment upon the speech or action of the senate. In an informal discussion at the White House, however, President Wilson indicated that the Monroe doctrine was as much a part of the American foreign policy today as a hundred years ago. He did not express an opinion concerning the ambassador's speech, but when asked whether he considered the Monroe doctrine obsolete, replied he had not heard that it was "falling in any way."

Alleged Purport of Speech.

Representative Murray's resolution sets forth that the remarks of Ambassador Page seem "to portend the policy of the state department to abandon, upon demand, the Monroe doctrine and to invite European violation." It would ask the state department whether "a new American policy of subjecting American wealth to the selfish interests of the nations of Europe" is "the fundamental reason for the demand to repeal the law now in force exempting American vessels conducting a coastwise trade from canal tolls."

It was recalled at the capitol that Senator Chamberlain last November introduced in the senate a petition of protest against reported remarks by Ambassador Page from members of the Confederate German Societies and the Robert Emmett society of Portland, Oregon. These protests, which also were forwarded to President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, characterized as "un-American" remarks attributed to Ambassador Page to the effect that the United States was "English and English ruled, and that the obligation of government and civilization rest with the people who speak the language of Shakespeare."

NURSE A VICTIM OF REVOLTING ASSAULT

Crowd Wanted to Lynch Four Young Men Accused of Crime.

Kansas City, Mo., March 11.—A heavy guard of police was needed today to convey from police headquarters to the county prosecutor's office four young men identified as Gertrude Shidler, a trained nurse, as members of a band of six who had hired a room and brutally assaulted her. A crowd of several hundred had gathered about police headquarters and threatened to lynch the men.

A small force of police vainly attempted to take them through the crowd. A man who made a lunge at one prisoner was felled by a policeman's club. The police retreated within the station with their prisoners until a larger escort could be summoned.

Mrs. Shidler declared she had been enticed to a room in a resort by a story that a doctor in the building had a case for her. After suffering the most revolting indignities, she said she escaped to the roof of an adjoining building, whence a policeman rescued her.

The four men under arrest—Victor Guerting, one of the owners of the resort; L. V. Brennan, an insurance agent; T. L. Kneavey, a solicitor; and Oscar Morrison, a plumber's helper—were charged with a statutory offense punishable in Missouri by death on the gallows.

TO BAR THE CIGARETTE AND TOBACCO COUPONS

Congressman Underwood's Bill Opposed from Many Quarters.

Washington, March 11.—Representative Underwood's proposal to impose a prohibitive tax on premium coupons given away with tobacco and cigarettes was the subject of a hearing today before the house ways and means committee. Representatives of the United Cigar Stores company, independent tobacco manufacturers and union labor were heard. The independents urged the legislation on the ground that the coupons were destroying their business without benefiting the consumer, while the coupon advocates declared that they stimulated the tobacco business and increased the government's revenues.

There is a Great Difference in Tobaccos

Tuxedo is the Mildest, Sweetest, Most Pleasant Smoke in the World, Because—

First—No one but the makers of Tuxedo is willing to spend the money necessary to buy the mildest, choicest, most thoroughly aged, selected Burley tobacco.

Second—No one but the makers of Tuxedo knows how to treat this Burley tobacco so that every bit of pleasantness and goodness remains in the tobacco and every bit of unpleasantness and harshness is taken out.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Tuxedo was born in 1904. Its first imitator appeared two years later. Since then a host of imitations have been born, and are clamoring for your patronage.

No imitation is ever as good as the original.

No amount of advertising, no amount of bluster and bluff, can ever make an imitation tobacco as good as Tuxedo.

If you are not a pipe smoker, you are denying yourself the greatest smoking pleasure known to man. One week of Tuxedo will give you more enjoyment than you have ever had—and at the end of the week your nerves will be better and your general health will have improved. Try Tuxedo this week!

BRIEF STATE NEWS

Wapping—Mrs. Mary Hayes has rented her entire farm to the Connecticut Sumatra Tobacco company. Mrs. Hayes will move to East Hartford.

Bethel—In view of the fact that Danbury has ordered that all dogs in that town be muzzled for the coming ninety days, Bethel may have to do the same.

Redding Ridge—Miss Julia Sanford has an entirely black lamb in her flock. This is quite a curiosity, especially as neither of its parents had any black on it.

Ivoryton—The chestnut grove owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Northrop is afflicted with the blight and the deceased trees are being cut out. This grove is one of the prettiest in town.

West Avon—The farmers have utilized the good seedling to draw in logs to the sawmill. Over a thousand logs have been drawn into the mill of H. A. Kullberg, both chestnut and pine.

Brookfield—The Brookfield poultry farm is a busy place. Manager Austin Smith who has been gathering a case of eggs per day is now frequently passing the four hundred a day mark.

Rockville—The fire commissioners of the city have fixed the pay for firemen when on extra duty as follows: From 5 a. m. to 6 p. m., 20 cents an hour; from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m., 20 cents an hour.

Waterbury—An inventory of the estate of Dr. Garwood H. Atwood, next oldest Yale graduate at the time of his death, showed that the doctor had left an estate of $36,000, consisting of mortgages entirely.

New Haven—The annual winter banquet of the retail butchers and grocers of New Haven and their friends was held Thursday evening at the Hotel Oneco. Guests were present from Hartford, Bridgeport and Boston.

This cake, made by the Cottolene recipe, using only Cottolene for shortening, won the first prize three separate times at the Texas State Fair. Cottolene recipes are all winners, at home or elsewhere.

Cottolene

Remember, however, that you do not need to use as much Cottolene as you would of butter or lard. Always use one-third less when cooking with Cottolene, for Cottolene goes much farther.

You save money, any way you figure, if you cook with Cottolene, and your food is more wholesome and more digestible. If you will give Cottolene one fair trial, you will continue to use it for everything except on the table.

This is the recipe for the prize-winning cake, by Mrs. W. J. Stone, Dallas, Texas:

Three-fourths cup of Cottolene, 2 cups sugar, 3 cups flour, 1 cup milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 5 whites of eggs beaten to stiff froth, 2 teaspoons lemon extract. Cream 3-4 cup of Cottolene with sugar, add milk and flour alternately until well mixed, then add whites of eggs and extract. Grease tins and flour them; light the gas just as you place cakes in stove. Put all three layers in and cook at once. Let the cake cool an hour or so before icing.

FILLING—Two cups sugar and just enough water to moisten, cook until it threads from the spoon. Beat whites of 2 eggs to stiff froth, pour the boiling syrup over the whites and beat constantly, then add 1 teaspoonful of lemon extract and 1-2 packages shredded coconut, and ice your cake. If icing begins to get too stiff to ice add about 2 tablespoons of boiling water and beat well.

Give yourself the satisfaction of knowing what Cottolene can do. Order a pail of it from your grocer; also send to us for the interesting FREE Cook Book, HOME HELPS, written by five leading authorities. Write for it today
